

Winners' Circle Training Centers operates a web site located at <http://www.winnerstraining.com> from which users can gather information concerning news and course offerings provided by Winners' Circle Training Centers. This Privacy Policy covers the treatment of personally identifiable information that we may collect when you access our web site and/or use our services.

Information Collection & Its Use

Winners' Circle Training Centers collects a variety of personal information, including your email address, IP address, and message content. Winners' Circle Training Centers also collects names and mailing addresses (including street, city, state, and zip code) from users who willingly provide that information.

Winners' Circle Training Centers use this personal information as follows:

- Winners' Circle Training Centers requires that you provide your email address in the contact section of its web site, in order to respond to your question(s) by email. You do have the option of also providing other personal information, including name, demographics (City & State), and what courses/offerings interest you.
- Winners' Circle Training Centers automatically receives and records internet traffic information via our server logs, including your IP Address and the page you requested. Your IP address is unique, and is not linked to your email address or to Winners' Circle Training Centers in any way.
- Winners' Circle Training Centers offers a periodical email subscription. When you enter your name and email for that purpose, it is used for that purpose and that purpose alone. We do not sell, rent or publish your email address or name for any reason.

Winners' Circle Training Centers uses your email address for the following purposes:

- To contact you about Winners' Circle Training Centers news, course offerings and promotions or the Winners' Circle Training Centers web site.
- To communicate with you concerning problems or malfunctions that you report.

Information Sharing & Disclosure

Winners' Circle Training Centers does not sell or rent your email address, name, mailing address, or any other information to anyone for any reason. Winners' Circle Training Centers will not share your email address, first or last name, mailing address, or other received information to anyone, except as stated below:

- Winners' Circle Training Centers will disclose personal information and personal records as they pertain to Winners' Circle Training Centers or business with Winners' Circle Training Centers, if required to respond to subpoenas, court orders, or any other legal process.

Changes to This Privacy Policy

Winners' Circle Training Centers may change this Privacy Policy, or make amendments from time to time. If any changes do occur, we will post the changed information in a public area on our web site.