Course Description:
Comprehensive treatment planning is a process not an event. It requires beginning with the end in mind. In other words, achieving beautiful, functional, and predictable outcomes requires certain processes, information, records, and intentional thought. Effective processes will help any clinician improve outcomes, influence the patient, and increase productivity.

This presentation will employ systems and strategies to help you design solutions for the most complex and the most simple problems that you encounter in your practice. You will leave with increased confidence in managing complexity and a system that supports and guides your thinking through the most challenging situations.

1. Connecting With What Your Patient Wants - Discovery
2. Gathering Abundant Clinical Data - Conditions Focused Exam
3. A Way To Think About Clinical Conditions - EFSB
4. Designing Solutions From Visual & Functional Reference Points
5. Engaging The Patient Objectively & Emotionally - The Art Of Influence
6. Actual Case Studies
7. Bringing A New Processes To Life - Overcoming Barriers To Change

Educational Objectives:
At the completion of this course, participants should be able to:
1. Recognize treatment planning is a process, not an event
2. Gather clinical data to determine the best treatment option for your patient
3. Design solutions from visualional and functional reference points
4. Actively engage your patients in their care
5. Increase your confidence in managing complex situations

Speaker Information:
Dr. Edwin McDonald is a graduate of the University of Texas Dental Branch at Houston, a fellow of the Academy of General Dentistry and the International College of Dentists. Also, he is a visiting faculty member at the Pankey Institute and Spear Education. He has given presentations for dentists and assistants at The Southwest Dental Conference, The Texas Meeting, The Chicago Mid Winter Dental Clinic, The Yankee Dental Congress, The Greater New York Dental Meeting, and The CDA Anaheim & San Francisco. He has authored articles for Dental Economics and Inside Dentistry.

He was the chairman of the 2015 Southwest Dental Conference and he is chairman of the 2019 Annual Session of the Texas Dental Association. Dr. McDonald maintains a private practice in Plano, Texas limited to esthetic, restorative, and implant dentistry.

Time & Location:
