COURSE DESCRIPTION:

Dr. Peter Sigurdsson graduated from the University of Iceland with a DDS. He came to the University of North Carolina School of Dentistry (UNC-SOD) and completed a residency in endodontics and was awarded both a certificate and MS. He remained at the UNC-SOD and taught there for twelve years, including serving as the Graduate Program Director of Endodontics for seven years. In 2004, Dr. Sigurdsson returned to Iceland where he was appointed at the Maxillofacial- and Oral surgery and private practice in endodontics in Reykjavik and in London, UK. In 2012, he moved back to the US and became an Associate Professor and Chair, Department of Endodontics, New York University College of Dentistry. Dr. Sigurdsson continues to serve as Dr. Sigurdsson is a past-President of the International Association for Dental Trauma and serves as the Editor of the International Association of Dental Trauma website, in addition to serving on numerous other journal editorial and scientific advisory boards. He has authored over 19 published papers in peer-reviewed journals, contributed 20 chapters to reference textbooks and given invited lectures in over 43 countries. Dr. Sigurdsson is a Diplomate, American Board of Endodontics.

Dr. Jessica Lee is the Demeritt Distinguished Professor and Chair of the Department of Pediatric Dentistry, University of North Carolina School of Dentistry (UNC-SOD). She has previously served as the departments Graduate Program Director. Dr. Lee received her DDS from Columbia University and a MPH from the Columbia School of Public Health before completing a residency in pediatric dentistry at UNC-SOD. She also earned a PhD in Health Policy and Management from the UNC-Chapel Hill Gillings School of Global Public Health, an affiliated MPH from the UNC-Chapel Hill School of Social Work and currently serves as the Associate Editor for the Journal of Dental Research and on the editorial board of many others. Dr. Lee has had a longstanding research interest in dental trauma and has published over 100 papers in the refereed literature in addition to contributing five chapters in textbooks on the subject. Dr. Lee is a widely sought after CE speaker both nationally and internationally.

Dr. John Christensen received his DDS degree from the University of Iowa and completed specialty MS degrees in both pediatric dentistry and orthodontics at the University of North Carolina School of Dentistry (UNC-SOD). He has made numerous contributions to the peer-reviewed professional literature and reference text books including being an editor of the 6th edition of Pediatric Dentistry: Infancy Through Adolescence. In addition, he has been an invited speaker at national, regional, and international meetings and CE courses. Dr. Christensen has a private practice of both specialties in Upland, NC. He also holds an Adjunct Professor appointment at the UNC-SOD where he teaches both didactic and clinical orthodontics to the pediatric dentistry residents.
